

Are you looking for a role in the field of occupational safety and health?

We're a division of the Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS), the state's largest regulatory agency. Our mission is to advance and improve workplace safety and health for all workers in Oregon.

We're looking for people dedicated to excellent customer service who want their work to benefit the public.

We're committed to working with labor, business, and other government agencies to provide every worker in Oregon a safe and healthful workplace.

How to find out about job openings

Browse job announcements at oregon.gov/dcbs/jobs. If there's a job announcement that interests you, follow the instructions carefully. You may be required to answer written questions, upload a cover letter, and/or take a test to show your qualifications.

Oregon OSHA
A great place to work

Who we hire

We're an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action employer and value multilingual and multicultural skills.

Compliance officers — safety and health — inspect workplaces, investigate accidents, provide pre-job conferences to employers, and offer hazard-abatement assistance to employers who have received citations.

Support Staff — assist various safety and health programs with an emphasis on excellent customer service.

Consultants — safety, health, and ergonomics — help employers reduce lost-time-accident costs and work with them to make their workplaces safer.

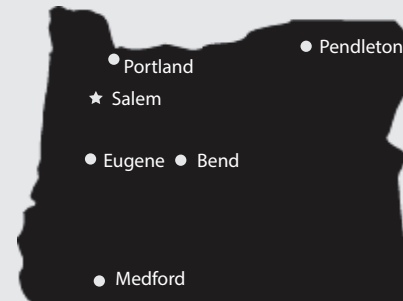

Technical specialists write Oregon's occupational safety and health standards, provide technical assistance to the public, and create innovative safe-practice guides for employers and employees.

Likewise, we have a variety of staff covering public education, records management, internal education, project coordination, fiscal services, research, policy, rulemaking, publications, and web and tech support.

Where we work

We have offices in Salem, Portland, Eugene, Medford, Bend, and Pendleton. Our central office, aka "main" office, is located in Salem near the Oregon Capitol.

Some jobs require extensive travel within Oregon. Many of our jobs are a combination of in person in the office and field, and work from home.

Pay and benefits

We offer a competitive salary and benefits package, which includes expansive coverage of health, dental, and vision insurance and a public employees' retirement plan. Other benefits include: paid vacation, paid sick time, 11 paid holidays, personal leave, and a deferred compensation program. In addition, we offer options such as flexible spending accounts, an employee assistance program, and expanded life insurance.

Details about salaries and benefits are outlined in each job posting.

Training and advancement

We offer comprehensive, ongoing training and learning to equip each employee with added skills in their role, and keep current in their professional and/or technical specialties.

We have multiple internal training specialists to coordinate training needs.

Likewise, we support employees in developing new skills to meet their career objectives at Oregon OSHA and elsewhere in state government.

