Lessons Learned:

The results from Oregon OSHA's workers' compensation claims review for fall in residential construction (2008-2012) were presented. There were 206 total falls in construction (residential) with 7 definite cases, 8 questionable, and 186 not related. The data showed that most falls occurred from ladders.

If anyone has any ideas relating to ladders (best practices), please bring to next meeting.

Continuing Business:

Status of rule making – Rulemaking updates can be found at:

<http://www.orosha.org/pdf/rules/2013development.pdf>

Compressed Gas – There are potential changes coming.

Small Capacity Cranes in Construction- Work has been suspended. There will be a check-in meeting in January 2014.

Monthly Overnight Hospitalizations & Fatalities Report

Dianna gave a report of overnight hospitalizations and fatalities for the month of June and July. There were 8 fatalities and 6 accidents. At the next meeting, there will be more details on an electrical shock accident that occurred in Salem in June.

Roundtable:

Demetra stated that the company she works for is going paperless and asked if OR-OSHA is considering to go digital. There was discussion on what materials OR-OSHA has digitally as to what is printed (i.e. required posters).

Michael asked the group if we should hold all CAC meetings at AGC in Wilsonville? The group decided to discuss at next meeting.

The group discussed twist locks; they are illegal on construction sites. If it's not illegal with NEC, then it's not with OR-OSHA as they follow NEC.
